FOOD. EDUCATION. FREEDOM. LEGACY.

Are you working, but still struggling?
Could you benefit from receiving over $1,000 worth of food, clothing, and household items monthly to create margin in your budget to pay off debt?
Are you willing, able, and ready to be a part of an accountability program to become self-sustainable?

ONE-ON-ONE MEETINGS
All participants have regular meetings with our Financial Literacy Manager, Dino Biaggi. Dino helps all our families create and reach their financial goals in a way that makes sense for them.

FINANCIAL CLASSES
You are required to take our ReStart financial literacy class within the first year on the program. Additional classes are available, such as: Paying For College Without Debt, How to Teach Kids About Money, Career Development, Social Security and Disability, and more!

SHOP WITH US
You choose a day (Monday, Wednesday, or Friday) and spend 45 minutes shopping for food, clothing, and household items once a week. Last year we received over 10 million lbs. of donated product that we shared with over 800 families and 70+ other non-profit organizations.

GET HELP, GIVE BACK
All participants pay a service fee of $80 as well as volunteer two hours monthly. Our model emphasizes the role of accountability and the dignity of the exchange. Our family volunteer hours are equivalent to 20 full time employees, keeping BCS running efficiently and as a community.
